Client Communication Guidelines

General, practical writing guidance for fictional client-service scenarios.

SAMPLE - TRAINING USE ONLY | Version 1.0 | Sample date: November 9, 2026

Write for clarity

- Lead with the request or project status and the most useful update.
- Use short headings and direct sentences; define terms before using abbreviations.
- Separate confirmed facts from open questions or estimates.

Provide actionable updates

- State what was completed, what remains open, and who owns the next action by role.
- Include a follow-up date only when it has been confirmed.
- Use the Client Update Template for consistent progress messages.

Handle problems responsibly

- Acknowledge issues without guessing at the cause or promising unapproved remedies.
- Escalate safety, legal, financial, or contractual questions to the authorized team.
- Avoid putting access instructions or sensitive site details in broadly shared messages.

Before sending

- Verify the recipients, document version, dates, and factual statements.
- Remove internal-only notes, personal information, and unrelated attachments.
- Use the company’s approved communication channel for any real client data.

Sample phrasing

- Status: The routine setup review is complete; one delivery confirmation remains open.
- Next step: The coordinator will request the vendor update and share the confirmed date.
- Note: This example is fictional and intentionally contains no identifiable client details.
